SUMMARY

The Campaign Finance and Public Disclosure Board is charged with the administration of the Ethics in Government Act, Minnesota Statutes Chapter 10A. As a part of that administration the Board receives disclosure reports of money raised and spent by state level candidates, political parties, political committees, and political funds registered with the Board. During 2005 candidates, political parties, political committees and political funds were required to file a single Reports of Receipts and Expenditures which disclosed their activity during the calendar year. During 2006 candidates who filed for office as well as all parties units, political committees and political funds, are required to file a pre-primary election report that covers the period of January 1 through August 21, 2006, a pre-general election report, and a year-end Report of Receipts and Expenditures. This document is based primarily on information disclosed on the 2005 report and the 2006 pre-primary report. Additional information from 2003 and 2004 is also used in order to better understand the election cycle activity of candidates who run for office once every four year. The information in this report is based on the Board's database of contributors and summary information. The data has not been verified or audited.

At the end of this document is a review of the financial status of candidates whose name will appear on the 2006 general election ballot. The review includes total contributions received; total expenditures made, and ending cash balance for each year of the election cycle for the office sought. Detailed information on the names of contributors and the expenditures made by candidates committees are available on the Report of Receipts and Expenditures filed with the Board. The 2005 and 2006 pre-primary Report of Receipts and Expenditures have been scanned into PDF format and placed on the Board's web site. The reports may be viewed at:

<http://www.cfbreport.state.mn.us/rptViewer/viewRptsCan.php>. Reports filed prior to 2005 are available for inspection in the Board office.

The activity of political party units, political committees and political funds is presented only in summary analysis. Starting in 2005 the Reports of Receipts and Expenditures for these types of political committees have been scanned for viewing on the Board's web site at:

<http://www.cfbreport.state.mn.us/rptViewer/viewRptsOther.php>. Reports filed prior to 2005 are also available for inspection in the Board office.

In addition to providing the financial status of candidates this summary of campaign activity disclosed to the Board reviews the following issues:

- The total contributions received by incumbents compared to contributions to non incumbents.
- The total contributions received by the political parties.
- The source of contributions for candidates and political party units.
- The role of independent expenditures in Minnesota.
- A review of the number of entities registered with the Board.

Contributions to Incumbents and Nonincumbents

In 2005 and through August 21, 2006, state constitutional and legislative candidates received $10,476,780 in cash and in-kind contributions. Incumbents received $7,144,143 or 68% of that total. As seen in figure 1 the majority of the contributions were received in 2006, an election year in which contribution limits are higher. The number of candidate committees collecting contributions also increased dramatically in 2006. Of the 282 nonincumbent candidates who filed for office 156 did not register a committee with the Board until 2006.

Contributions to Political Party Units

Units of the Republican Party of Minnesota and the Democratic Farmer Labor Party collected over $17,900,000 in cash and in-kind contributions in 2005 and through August 21, 2006. In contrast all units of the Green Party of Minnesota and the Independence Party of Minnesota collected $285,367 in contributions during the same period. Figure 2 compares the contributions received by each of the political parties.

Source of Contributions

Candidates have limits on the amount of contributions they may receive from any one source and from “special source” contributions in aggregate. Special source contributions are contributions received from lobbyists, political committees and funds, and individuals who give more than $100 and more than one half the individual contribution limit for the office. Contributions from political party units are also limited. As a result of these limits both incumbents and nonincumbents receive the majority of their contributions from individuals, followed by contributions from political committees and funds, party units, and lobbyists. The importance of contributions from individuals is shown in figure 3.

Incumbents received 83% of their total contributions from individuals; nonincumbents received 90% of their total contributions from individuals. Political parties play many key roles in the political process, but they are a relatively minor source of funding for candidates campaigns. Both incumbents and nonincumbents report that only 3% of their funding came from political parties.

Political party units do not have contribution limits and therefore may accept larger contributions than candidates. As depicted in figure 4, individuals are the single largest source of contributions to political parties (46%). (Note; figure 4 is based on itemized contributions only, political party units do not report unitemized contributions by source.) Compared to candidates, political party units receive a greater proportion of their contributions from political committees and funds. Political committees and funds contribute 32% of the cash and in-kind donations received by the political party units. The total of itemized contributions received by political party units is $10,232,278. However, this number is an overstatement of new funding received because it contains $1,702,025 in transfers from one political party unit to another.

Independent Expenditures

Independent expenditures are expenditures made by political party units, political committees and political funds to influence the nomination or election of a candidate. The expenditures must be made without any cooperation or coordination with the candidate or the candidate's committee. Independent expenditures may be either in support of, or in opposition to a candidate. The comparative importance of independent expenditures to contributions made directly to candidates is shown in figures 5 and 6. In figure 5, independent expenditures by political parties are significantly higher than direct contributions to candidates in every year except 2006. Note that the reporting for 2006 is only through August 21.

Figure 5

Political committees and funds are also spending significant funds on independent expenditures. However, as seen in figure 6, political committees and funds still contribute directly to candidates a higher amount than they spend on independent expenditures in every year except 2002. Note that the reporting for 2006 is only through August 21.

Figure 6

A more specific look at the role of independent expenditures is seen in the special legislative elections held in 2005. Figure 7 shows the amount of independent expenditures reported for the special elections in Senate Districts 15, 19, and 43 as well as House District 15B. During the four special elections $356,306 was spent on independent expenditures. In comparison the eight candidates spent $213,192 on campaign expenditures on their own campaigns.
