LOBBYING OVERVIEW

What is lobbying

Lobbying is defined as attempting to influence legislative or administrative action by communicating with public or local officials or urging others to communicate with public or local officials.

Who is a lobbyist

Any individual who is engaged for pay or other consideration or who is authorized by another individual, association, political subdivision, or public higher education system to spend money and who spends more than five hours in any month or more than $250 in any calendar year (not including travel expenses and membership dues) for the purpose of attempting to influence legislative or administrative action or the official action of a metropolitan governmental unit by communicating with or urging others to communicate with public or local officials.

A nonelected local official or an employee of a political subdivision who spends more than 50 hours in any month attempting to influence legislative or administrative action or the official action of a metropolitan governmental unit, other than the political subdivision employing the official or employee, by communicating with or urging others to communicate with public or local officials, including time spent monitoring any of the forenamed actions and related research, analysis, and compilation and dissemination of information relating to legislative, administrative, or metropolitan governmental unit policies in Minnesota.

Any individual who spends more than $250 in any year (not including travel expenses and membership dues) for the purpose of attempting to influence legislative or administrative action or the official action of a metropolitan governmental unit by communicating with or urging others to communicate with public or local officials.

Any individual who merely communicates with a public official to obtain information or request an interpretation of a law, rule or agency action is not a "lobbyist".
